Marcellus Shale Earth First!

Round River Rendezvous

July 1 - 7 2012

The 2012 Round River Rendezvous in the Marcellus region is the perfect opportunity for a convergence of Earth First!ers, environmental justice activists, rural community members, and anyone else interested in a week of primitive camping, workshops, trainings, music, hiking, rowdy fires and, of course, effective direct action against hydraulic fracture drilling ("fracking") in the Marcellus Shale. We plan to have a focus on the culture of the region, the boom and bust history of resource extraction in the area, and the rewilding of regional ecosystems increasingly affected by the rapid expansion of fracking.

This year's EF! Rendezvous will be a meaningful opportunity to connect activists from across the country in a resounding gesture of solidarity with all those resisting the spread and effects of fracking.
